

The 400 Club

Application for Membership

The London Welsh 400 Club was set up in 1973 to help fund rugby tours of London Welsh RFC. The very first tour that the 400 club helped to fund was a tour to Sri Lanka that included club greats such as John Dawes, John Taylor and J.P.R. Williams to name a few. Huge crowds watched the games in Sri Lanka and the London Welsh team was hosted by the British High Commissioner.

Tours since then have not always been quite as glamorous but are definitely still equally enjoyable.

The administration of the 400 club has recently been taken over by the Supporters Club and continues to be an important source of revenue to help fund rugby at all levels of the club.

We are always delighted to welcome new members and your support is greatly appreciated.
